Default files

- ▶ README.md (It's a markdown file)
- ▶ .gitignore

Init a repo from start

- ▶ Do not add a README.md when creating a new repository in Github if you already have a folder with files.

git init
```

Clone repos

- ▶ Clone a repo:

git clone <github URL>
```

Changing the Branch

git checkout <branchname>

You can list all the branches with:

git branch
```

Create a new branch?

git branch newbranch

Save your changes

Adding a new file into the repo

```
git add <theNewFile> git commit [-a] git push
```

It failed? Did you pull?

git pull
```

Hands-on!

Already created a repo at:

https://github.com/calvo-pythian/delta_git_training If you have your ssh key configured properly:

`git@github.com:calvo-pythian/delta_git_training.git`

Create a new repository on the command line

echo "# delta_git_training" >> README.md
git init
git add README.md
git commit -m "first commit"
git remote add origin https://github.com/calvo-pythian/delta_git_training.git
git push -u origin master

Push an existing repository from the command line

git remote add origin https://github.com/calvo-pythian/delta_git_training.git

Task 1

Please create a new branch on this repo. Call it as you want.

Task 2

Add a file. Commit and push the file.

Task 3

Please fork the entire repo in your profile.

Done!

- ▶ Now you are able to work in a basic mode with any repo around there.
